ITALY'S MORE DETERMINED ATTITUDE IN WAR PREPARATIONS

Ll. George's "New Deal" Rejected

Mr. James Ramsay MacDonald leaves London for his native Scotland and virtual retirement after resigning as Great Britain's Prime Minister because of failing health.

JUBILEE NAVAL REVIEW TO-DAY AT SPITHEAD

161 VESSELS WILL BE PRESENT

50,000 OFFICERS AND MEN PARTICIPATING

The Jubilee Naval Review at Spithead to-day is to be on a much larger scale than had been anticipated.

Not only are the Home and Mediterranean Fleets to be present in great strength, but the greater part of the Reserve Fleet is to be commissioned for the occasion.

An Admiralty announcement shows that altogether 161 vessels will be present, including:

10 battleships	79 destroyers
2 battle cruisers	23 submarines
2 aircraft-carriers	22 sloops
18 cruisers	minesweepers

No such assembly of Britain's naval strength has been seen in peace time since July, 1914, when the Test Mobilisation was held at Spithead.

KING ARRIVES AT SPITHEAD

Spends Night On Royal Yacht

250,000 EXPECTED TO SEE BRITAIN'S SEA MIGHT

London, To-day.

H.M. the King travelled to the outskirts of Portsmouth yesterday by special train, being accompanied by H.R.H. the Prince of Wales, the Duke of York and the Duke of Kent, on his way to attend the Jubilee Review of the Royal Navy off Spithead this afternoon.

His Majesty proceeded through Portsmouth by motor-car, and was enthusiastically cheered by the great crowds lining the route. The King is spending the night on board the Royal Yacht Victoria and Albert.

It is expected that at least 250,000 people will watch the review from the shore and from ships.

Owing to the pressure of Government business, an adjournment of the House of Commons to permit members to attend the Review has not been possible, but a large group of members, including the Prime Minister, Mr. Stanley Baldwin, and the Lord President of the Council, Mr. J. Ramsay MacDonald, will be present. — British Wireless Service.

PLAN NO CURE FOR UNEMPLOYMENT

GOVT. NOW PREPARING REASONED STATEMENT

ELECTION DELAY SUGGESTED

London, To-day.

Parliamentary opinion has veered towards a general election next spring, thanks to the clarification of the atmosphere by the Government's rejection of Mr. Lloyd George's £250,000,000 New Deal proposal last night.

As a reply to Mr. Lloyd George's action in publishing the outline of the scheme yesterday, the Government is preparing a reasoned statement, which it is understood will flatly reject the suggestions like the nationalisation of the coal, cotton, and iron and steel industries, and pensions at 60 (which would cost £100,000,000 a year.)

Mr. Lloyd George will be told that the scheme will not cure unemployment and cannot be effected for two years as he suggests without the abolition of Parliamentary control.

Mr. Lloyd George announces that he will challenge the Government with this scheme at the next election.

Cautious Parliamentarians urge the delay of the elections until spring to enable the newly formed Government to place its case before the country more effectively than has hitherto been possible. — Reuter.

POLITICAL SCRAMBLE FOR POWER

MANOEUVRES BY SOUTH-WEST

MANIFESTO ISSUED BY LOCAL KUOMINTANG

[From Our Own Correspondent]

Canton, To-day.

The Government newspapers here are publishing daily circular messages, issued by public bodies and Kuomintang organs in support of the circular telegram of the Kuomintang South-west Executive Committee of June 22, which asked the Central Authorities to disclose their plan of coping with the Japanese menace, and to suppress the Blue Shirts Organisation.

One of the supporting manifestos is issued by the Hong Kong branch of the Kuomintang headquarters, although that body is established here and not in Hong Kong. This party organ claims to represent certain Chinese interests in the Colony.

WEATHER REPORT

A moderate anticyclone covers the Pacific to the south of Japan and a ridge of moderately high pressure extends from it to south-east China. Depressions are situated over the western part of the Sea of Japan and to the north of Hokkaido. The typhoon is filling up over Tonkin, East and south-east winds, moderate; cloudy, showery, was the forecast for to-day, as issued by the Royal Observatory this morning.

The statement of Premier Mussolini that various European Governments are shipping arms and munitions to Abyssinia seems to be borne out by this picture showing Ethiopian warriors carrying boxes of ammunition at Addis Ababa. Here the troops of Emperor Haile Selassie are concentrating for the expected war with Italy's expeditionary force.

TWELVE PEOPLE DROWNED

Motor-Bus Falls Into Canal In Belgium

— CHINA MAIL — SPECIAL

Brussels, To-day.

Twelve people were drowned at Tournai, a province of Anvers, on Sunday as a motor-bus fell into the canal when trying to evade a cyclist. Out of the 14 occupants in the bus, only two escaped, while the others, including the driver, lost their lives. — Trans-Queen Service.

NAVAL PACT WITH GERMANY

Present Programme Questioned

STATED NOT FORFEITEN BY AGREEMENT

London, To-day.

The Foreign Secretary, Sir Samuel Hoare, stated in the House of Commons at question time yesterday that the text of the Anglo-German Naval Agreement had been communicated to the League of Nations and would be registered forthwith.

Asked if information recently published by the German Government regarding ships they had laid down or intended to lay down this year was accepted by the British Government as in accordance with the Anglo-German agreement, Sir Victor Warrender replied for the Admiralty that, as would be seen by reference to the exchange of notes, the programme formed no part of the agreement, but it was in no way contrary to any part of it. — British Wireless Service.

BRITISH LEGION IN GERMANY

Delegates Received By Reichsfuehrer

London, To-day.

The members of the British Legion visiting Germany at the invitation of German ex-service-men's organisations yesterday placed a wreath on the tomb of Germany's Unknown Warrior in Berlin and were received by Herr Hitler, who with Herr Hesse, Deputy leader of the Nazi Party, talked with them for over two hours. — British Wireless Service.

NAVAL OFFICER ROBBED

LT-Commander A. L. Moorhay, of H.M.S. Tamar, has reported to the police that between 12.10 and 1.45 p.m. yesterday somebody stole from his cabin a gold watch valued at $30 and a fountain pen valued at $15.

Meat Marketing Agreements

London, To-day. — In the House of Commons yesterday the President of the Board of Trade made a statement on the reciprocal marketing agreements made by Britain.

In the last few days they had secured a preliminary agreement with Australia and New Zealand which would govern the supply of mutton and lamb to the British market to the end of 1936.

SOCIALIST REPUBLIC IN SZECHUEN

FARMERS OBJECT TO HEAVY PROVINCIAL TAXATION

[From Our Own Correspondent]

Canton, To-day.

A Soviet Socialist Republic has been established in North-western Szechuen about 130 kilometres or about 90 miles north-west of Chengtu, as many farmers have become Red owing to heavy taxation by the provincial authorities, according to Japanese reports reaching here last night.

The reports added that in spite of Government successes over the Communists, the latter are able to hold out in their own territory. According to the same sources, the Nanking military authorities are taking a serious view of the situation. The headquarters of the Communists are located at Maohsien in North-western Szechuen, and it is apparently the capital of the Communist regime. One detachment under Forward Hsu is attacking Wuiping in an effort to reach Shensi but is being held back by Nanking divisions under General Wu Chung-nan.

Heavy artillery and aerial bombardments are being directed on the Red position. Thousands of them have been reported killed, yet the Red menace in Szechuen is not a spent force, according to reports received here.

TWO MEN CRUSHED BY LANDSLIDE

One Killed; Other Seriously Hurt

One man was crushed to death and another critically injured when they were pinned beneath several tons of granite and sand in a landslide which occurred at the Government Quarry, Tsai Tse-mui, at 10.40 this morning.

It appears that the men were working at the base of the quarry and a quantity of granite, which had been loosened by the heavy rains of the past few days, became dislodged and came hurtling down upon them.

Four minutes after the disastrous occurrence a fire appliance and an ambulance were rushing to the scene, but despite the fact that medical aid was immediately available, the man died as a result of his injuries.

LAST NIGHT'S STORM

Addition To Water Reserves

Last night's thunderstorm and tropical downpour of rain made another welcome addition to the water stocks of the Colony and mainland. The rain was the heaviest seen here for some time, and continued for some hours from 11 p.m. onwards. There is a distinct lowering of the temperature this morning, the air instead of the usual mugginess, general at this time of the year, being appreciably cooler and less enervating.

The total rainfall for the 24 hours ended at 10 a.m. to-day was 1.47 inches.

H.M. Submarine Triton is due to arrive in the Colony to-day from Wanchow.

CAMPAIGN IN PRESS

COMPLETE FAITH IN MUSSOLINI

ITALY MASTER OF OWN FUTURE

BRITISH ARMS EXPORTS STOUTLY DENIED

Rome, To-day.

The news of Italy's fresh military measures is published in huge type on the front pages of the papers, which yesterday took an even more determined attitude.

While the Chancelleries of Europe ceaselessly discuss the juridical interpretation and probably the political adjustment of the so-called Abyssinian question, Signor Mussolini acts, says the Lavoro Fascista.

The paper adds that Signor Mussolini, who is a master of political strategy, points out the only road that can be followed to safeguard Italy's rights and make her master of her own future. — Reuter.

NO ARMS EXPORT FROM BRITAIN

A message from London states that no licences for the export of arms to Abyssinia have been received during the last three months, said Lt. Colonel Colville, President of the Board of Trade, replying to Captain Waterhouse (C. S. Leicester) in the House of Commons.

Only two applications have been received, and they are still under consideration as they are out of order. — Reuter.

COUNCIL MEETING LIKELY

London, To-day.

Members questioned the Foreign Secretary in the House of Commons yesterday regarding the meeting of the Council of the League of Nations in connection with the Italo-Abyssinian dispute, and the adjournment of the Conciliation Commission.

Sir Samuel Hoare recalled that the Council had decided in May to meet in June, in default of the agreement between the arbitrators, understanding should not have been reached by July 25 as to the selection of the fifth member of the Commission, unless the four members agreed to extend the period, and the Council had also decided to meet and examine the situation on August 25 a settlement by means of conciliation and arbitration should not have taken place.

He added: "In view of the above circumstances the early meeting of the Council appears inevitable." — British Wireless Service.

SALVAGE WORK ON "EGYPT"

Remaining Treasure To Be Recovered

CHINA MAIL — SPECIAL

Paris, To-day.

The Italian steamer Artiglio will leave Brindisi, where she had only recently arrived, within the next few days in order to resume her efforts to raise the remainder of the gold treasure from the wreck of the Epine Olympe, which is still estimated to be worth $100,000,000.

Arrangements of gold, silver, diamonds, and other valuables estimated at $25,000,000, were found on the Epine Olympe. — Trans-Queen Service.

THE NEW WAY OF MANAGING A BRIDE'S TRIN

Trousseau Includes Long Cape Of Taffeta

RUMPLED MATERIAL

A new way of managing the train has been discovered by a bride. She wears a gown of gleaming silver, with a narrow flounce just below the knees. At the back this flounce is knotted over the train, and the weight of the knot and its two long ends keep the train from dragging.

Pink daisies and blue forget-me-nots are massed at the neck of the pale-blue organza bridesmaids' gowns.

Among her trousseau evening clothes is a long cape of deep rose-coloured ruffled taffeta, a material which looks as if it had been washed and dried but not ironed.

This goes with a navy satin evening gown, hitched up at the back to show a glimpse of a flounce of deep rose, matching the cape.

STAINING THE FLOOR

Mixture Of Boot And Floor Polish

The best method to stain your floor is to melt and mix together a tin of boot polish, either black or brown, as required, and a tin of floor polish twice that size. When cool, rub well into the floor with a nail-brush or blacklead brush, and polish brilliantly with a mop.

BEAUTY ADVICE

A patriotic sports outfit of red, white and blue woollens worn by Ann Dvorak, screen actress. The wool skirt is of a bright shade of blue and is topped with a white Norfolk jacket of white twill, which fastens at the front with red buttons.

CHIFFON ON THE WANE

Plain Materials Preferred

A CHARMING FROCK

A study of these summer fashions shows the reign of the printed chiffon very much on the wane, its place being taken by plain materials in lovely, soft, pastel colourings. The heavy, crinkled or blistered silk crepes (which are really by no means as heavy as they appear) still remain favourites for evening gowns and wraps. One of these is one of the outstanding successes of the season. The frock is of a very "plastery" crepe which looks almost like matisse, in an exquisite shell-pink shade, made with a very full sweeping skirt and a perfectly plain, fitted bodice cut square at the front and back and fastened up the front with a row of round coral buttons. Over this is worn the most entrancing little jacket, with full basque and elbow sleeves, of deep rose-pink taffeta.

TAILORED GOWNS WITH COLLAR AND REVERS

A fashion creator has designed a tailored gown with collar and revers. The bodice buttons down the front like a jacket and a narrow leather belt is worn with it.

Make-Up Can't Change Your Features

EXPERIMENT A NECESSITY

Correct make-up to wear with the most popular summer colours is a question that seems to be bothering a good many beauty-minded women these days.

It's not difficult to decide on the right rouge, lipstick, eye-shadow and powder if you intend to stick to navy blue or black. However, if you have gone in for the subtle zinnia shades of the new musical comedy colours, you ought to spend hours over a cosmetic counter before you make one single purchase.

Keep in mind, of course, that all make-up is used simply to enhance the natural beauty with which nature endowed you. You shouldn't try to figure out fantastic ways and means to apply rouge and make-up in the hope that you will be able to change features that displease you. You won't be successful anyway. Unless you do your work behind footlights or know full well that all of your dancing for an evening will be done under amber lights, there's no use hoping that rouge will make your chin look smaller or that lipstick applied beyond the natural line of the lips will change the contour of your mouth. The best you can do is to keep smiling and to wear make-up that harmonises with your own colouring and which does not clash with the clothes you wear.

When you start out to buy cosmetics to go with a special outfit, wear that outfit. Ask the saleswoman to let you try various tones to see which are most becoming. It's impossible to make flat rules about what rouge to wear with chartreuse—which lipstick looks well with orange. A great deal depends on your own skin tones. You simply have to experiment.

CLOTHES FOR SPORTS

Sun Bathing Dresses In Striped Material

BEACH FASHIONS

Tennis dresses of cotton pique, washing silks, linen, and shantung have figured sashes and belts. Brown is the colour for linen beach shorts and tennis shorts; with them go clean white or ivory white sleeveless vests; the boleros or jackets may be brown or white and the belts are usually of brown leather. With the bodice to a beach dress a cape is as right as a jacket or coat. Capes of hand-knitted white yarn go well with strawberry red, brown, black, and dark blue linen. Indian draped dresses are also made for the beach, where any sort of hood is newer than a hat. In striped linens, silks and cottons there are sun-bathing dresses with the hood-drapery. The sun bonnet is put with cotton frocks and jacket. Thin summer materials are accordion pleated in capes and flounces.

CLOTHES FOR THE CRUISE

Concentrate On Sports And Evening Outfits

CHOOSE BRIGHT COLOURS

Planning your cruising outfit is really quite a simple matter when one realizes that practically nothing but sports clothes and evening clothes are needed. Go over the various things one must pack one by one.

One warm top-coat is essential—something of a sports variety in tweed or wool. Then you'll want very warm evening coat or wrap, because even in the tropics it can be very chilly on deck at night. Also, take a rain coat, but the chances are you'll never wear it.

Suits And Jumpers
A linen suit is an ideal garment for shore excursions on a southern cruise and a light-weight tweed or knitted wool suit for going ashore at Northern resorts. With these you can wear cool linen, cotton or silk jumpers or blouses, or woollen equivalents, according to climate. Choose bright rather than pastel colours to wear at sea. The effect is much better.

If you don't like wearing trousers, you'll need three or four cotton or linen frocks for deck wear (some of them backless). Then take a washing silk frock as an alternative to suits for shore parties, and one afternoon frock, because on some cruises, evening dress is not worn on Sunday nights, or when the ship is in port. Some of the newest unshrinkable and crease-resisting fabrics are a great boon for cruising.

FOR SMALL SLIM WOMEN ONLY

Picture Frocks

Picture frocks in taffetas suit only the small, slim woman. Larger-sized women should never wear such frocks, as they would look immense.

SQUARE SHAPED HAND BAGS

For the daytime your handbag should be square-shaped, in morocco leather, and of gold or silver sequins, or plain-coloured pleated crepe-de-chine for the evening.

Amusements

Cinema Notes

"BABOONA" KINGS THEATRE

During the filming of their latest jungle thriller, "Baboonas," now at the King's Theatre, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Johnson helped a tribe of baboons to defend themselves against two murderous leopards. At least, they stood by ready to aid Mrs. Johnson with gun to shoulder in case the baboons were worsted. During the battle Johnson used his camera continuously.

"I had a strong inclination to shoot those two killers," says Mrs. Johnson. "Martin and I both like monkeys. They're pests sometimes, but they're really lovable and friendly beasts. I could have stopped the battle at once with my powerful rifle but Martin stopped me instead. He was right. One of the most dramatic scenes we ever photographed was being unfolded, and as long as the monkeys were deft and quick enough to hold the big cats at bay it was to our advantage to get the pictures. It was, after all, the purpose of our trip."

At the high point in the excitement, an unusual thing happened, to the advantage of the two cinematographers. The chief baboon climbed up on a huge tree stump and gave a signal. Immediately, the baboon mothers grabbed their babies and with big males forming the rear guard, they began to vacate the village. With the leopards still pursuing, the baboons crossed a stream, escaping them, and took refuge in an adjoining forest.

"WEST OF THE PECOS" QUEEN'S THEATRE

Richard Dix makes a welcome return to the screen in a role after his own heart in "West of the Pecos," the latest wild-west thriller, which opens at the Queen's Theatre to-day.

Cast as Pecos Smith, who was born in a covered wagon and brought up to understand no other law than that of the gun, Dix, despite the advancing years, has lost none of his old vitality and power to convince, so that this portrayal is one of his best so far. The girl in the story is Martha Sleeper, a newcomer who should do well. In this story she is cast as a girl who masquerades as a boy as a form of protection.

The scenes taken during their long, hard trek across the famous Santa Fe trail are too realistic to have been taken in Hollywood. The story is one of the best Zane Grey, the famous author of countless westerns, has written.

"YOU BELONG TO ME" ALHAMBRA THEATRE

With the effusive, brilliant and always entertaining Lee Tracy in the leading role, Helen Mack, talented emotional actress, songbird Helen Morgan, and the newest candidate for juvenile acting honours, David Holt, aged six in the other featured roles, Paramount's "You Belong to Me" brings a human, sympathetic and enthralling story about three of life's brave underdogs to the screen.

Under the genius of Director Alfred L. Werker, who gave us "House of Rothschild," the tale of the brookdown vanderbilt comic and the helpless little actress-mother, whose lives were regenerated by their love for a little boy, reveals Tracy as an actor whose actual dramatic talents are just being revealed. Elevates Miss Mack to her true position among Hollywood players, and launches what promises to be a career of stardom for young Holt. He is the most personable and believable little boy the screen has shown since the advent of Jackie Cooper.

The story revolves around the off-stage experiences of a vanderbilt team. David's mother in the picture, Helen Mack, can't keep him with her in the cheap little hotels on the road since her marriage to her new partner, Arthur (Elson), so David is sent away to military school, always having a and always longing for the small of his mother's perfume.

"ENDEAVOUR" IN SQUALL THRILL

Anchor Pulled Out Of Sea Bed

Mr. T. O. M. Sopwith's yacht Endeavour, at Southend recently for yacht week, was caught by wind and tide during a squall and over-ran her anchor, pulling it out to the ground.

She was being carried down towards a number of other yachts when she was taken in tow by a motor-boat and brought to a safe mooring. A number of craft saw her plight and several motor launches went to her.

up the successful dance-team and throw over Helen.

Because mother and son are in desperate need of his aid, Tracy becomes regenerated, self-respecting and eventually wins back the love of his own wife as the film moves rapidly forward to a thrilling and happy climax.

"EMPEROR JONES" MAJESTIC THEATRE

Paul Robeson, the famous Negro actor and singer, proves himself an equally great actor on the screen as he is on the stage in "Emperor Jones," which opens at the Majestic Theatre to-day. The film opens showing Robeson as a train attendant in New York. As a fugitive from justice he escapes to one of the West Indian islands, and there, by virtue of his superior powers, creates himself emperor of the island.

The singing of Negro Spirituals by a massed chorus is one of the highlights of the film.

Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy return to the Oriental Theatre to-day in one of their greatest and funniest films, "Fra Diavolo."

In this picture Stan and Oliver decide to make some quick money by becoming bandits, and they borrow the name and reputation of the greatest bandit in the country, Fra Diavolo, for a start. When they are discovered by a real Diavolo, played by Dennis King, the situation becomes increasingly funny. King brightens the picture too, with his singing.

"BROADWAY BILL" STAR THEATRE

All the charm and whimsical romance of Frank Capra's "Happened One Night" have been recaptured and embellished by the great director in his last Columbia production, "Broadway Bill," which is showing at the Star Theatre to-day.

FIRST SERIES OF TRIALS IN DECEMBER

SELECTED TEAM TO BE SENT TO BERLIN EARLY IN 1936

Manila, July 12.

WITH the Japan barnstorming tour out of the way, Philippine Amateur Athletic Federation officials are now turning their minds toward the problem of selecting a delegation to represent the Philippines at the eleventh World Olympic Games at Berlin next year.

A system of training and the holding of a series of try-outs is being mapped out by P. A. A. F. authorities with the end in view of keeping the "possible" candidates in trim for the Berlin Games.

The Philippines hopes to send two or three track and field men, four or five swimmers, including one or two women swimmers, a boxing team and a weight-lifting team.

The only likely representatives in track and field at present are Miguel White, hurdles star, and German Candari, 400 metres dash, both of whom recently swept through all opposition in Japan. White can run the 400 metres low hurdles in only fractions of a second behind the existing world record and is capable of improving.

In swimming, Teofilo Yldefonso, the breaststroke ace who beat Koike here last May in the 200 metres breaststroke event, and Jikurum, the Moro swimmer who has also had world olympic experience, are still going strong and head the candidates for the swimming team.

"Possibles" Rounded Up
Officials of the P. A. A. F. have just announced that the Federation is gradually rounding up the "possibles" who have a chance to make the P. I. delegation. These possibilities will be concentrated in Manila and around December the first of a series of open tryouts will be held.

Under present plans it is possible that the P. I. teams will be selected late this year and sent to Berlin in the early part of next year in order to enable the athletes to get acclimatised before the big competitions in July and August, 1936.

Standards Adopted

In order to facilitate the selection of athletes, the P. A. A. F. has adopted certain standards of performance which candidates must attain before being eligible for any of the teams. These standards are based on existing world olympic records. It has been figured out that only those able to come up to the adopted standards will have a chance to place in the respective events.

The standards of performance which the P. A. A. F. has adopted follow:

Track Events (Men)

100 meter—10.7 secs.
200 meters—21.6 secs.
400 meters—48.8 secs.
800 meters—1 min. 54 secs.
1500 meters—3 mins. 59.6 secs.
10,000 meters—31 mins. 30 secs.
110 meters hurdles—14.8 secs.
400 meters hurdles—53 secs.

Field Events (Men)

Running High Jump—1.93 m. (6 ft. 4 in.)
Running Broad Jump—7.32 m. (24 ft.)
Hop, Step and Jump—14.93 m. (49 ft.)
Pole Vault—4.11 m. (13 ft. 6 in.)
Javelin—54 m. (22 ft.)
Discus—45.74 m. (150 ft.)
Shot Put—14.93 m. (49 ft.)
Deception—79.40 points.

Track and Field—(Women)

100 meters—12.2 secs.
800 meters hurdles—12 secs.
Running high jump—1.38 m. (4 ft. 6 in.)
Discus—33.95 m. (111 ft.)
Javelin—39.62 m. (130 ft.)

Swimming (Men)

100 meters free style—1 min. 11 secs.
100 meters back stroke—1 min. 11 secs.
200 meters breast stroke—2 min. 48 secs.
400 meters free style—5 min. 6 secs.
1500 meters free style—20 min. 9 secs.

Swimming (Women)

100 meters free style—1 min. 09.3 secs.
100 meters back stroke—1 min. 22.6 secs.
200 meters breast stroke—3 min. 12 secs.
400 meters free style—5 min. 47 secs.

Weight-Lifting

Featherweight (up to 60 kilos—132 lbs.)—282½ kilos (621½ lbs.)
Lightweight (up to 67½ kilos—149 lbs.)—307½ kilos (676½ lbs.)
Middleweight (up to 75 kilos—165 lbs.)—340 kilos (748 lbs.)
Light-heavyweight (up to 82½ kilos—182½ lbs.)—360 kilos (792 lbs.)
Heavyweight (over 82½ kilos—over 182½ lbs.)—377½ kilos (833½ lbs.)

ASCOT TOTE RECORD

$339,000 Turnover In Four Days

London, June 20.

The Ascot totalisator beat all records this week with a turnover of $339,685 14s. for the four days' racing. The total was made up as follows:

Tues. $68,852 12 Thurs. $81,442 10
Wed. $104,891 6 Fri. $84,498 6
Total $339,685 14s.

How the support of the tote has progressed at Ascot is shown by the following figures:

1931 $227,711 4 1934 $310,081 2
1932 $256,145 14 1935 $339,685 14
1933 $298,891 16

ANOTHER ARSENAL CASUALTY

The Arsenal casualty list has increased with the addition of Bowden, the England inside-right, who has gone into the Royal Northern Hospital to be operated upon for the removal of his tonsils. Drake, Bastin and Beasley, however, have left hospital after being successfully operated on.

But the wife of the former world heavyweight champion, the erstwhile Mary Ellen Sullivan, quickly denied there had been a rift.

The News said Baer and his wife would confer with regard to a separation later this week, before he enters a hospital at Baltimore for treatment for his hands. He injured them in the June 13 battle in which he lost his crown to Jimmy Braddock.

The Liverpool Advertiser, said the Daily News, announced the alleged rift at a party which he attended in company with Mary Kirk Brown, his former fiancée. Mrs. Baer meanwhile was at her home at Long Branch, N.J.

"She wanted to get married again by a Catholic priest but because I was Jewish I refused," Max was quoted. "Then—well, I never knew she took religion so seriously."—Associated Press.

FASTEST BOWLER IN ENGLAND

Essex Player's Distinction

READ PUZZLES OXFORD

H. D. Read, who made his first appearance of the season in County cricket in the match between Essex and Glamorgan, played for the M.C.C. against Oxford last month and took 8 for 28. He is now playing more or less regularly in the Essex side.

It will be interesting to observe Read's progress this summer. Two years ago he was a tearaway fast bowler, formidable in club cricket because of his sheer speed.

Last year he improved his delivery, and therefore his accuracy, by a good deal.

He took 63 wickets in first class cricket for 22 runs each. At his best—and now that Larwood, no longer a boy at his old speed—Read is quite the fastest bowler in England.

A. M. Holland's quartette (P. Farrell, R. Duncan and J. C. Brown) are expected to beat J. L. Tetley, W. E. Hale, D. W. Waterhouse and M. J. Henderson (skip).

SCHOOL SOCCER

SUGGESTION TO REVIVE LEAGUE

H.K.F.A. ANNUAL MEETING

PRESIDENT'S REMARKS ON DIRTY PLAY

At the annual general meeting of the Hong Kong Football Association held yesterday in the Board-room of Messrs. Jardine Matheson Ltd., Mr. R. M. Omar, suggested that the Association endeavour to inaugurate a school league or revive the old one. He emphasised the fact that if there was a school league, the various local clubs would benefit materially in the future.

The league was discontinued in 1923 owing to bad feeling then existing, he said, but he felt sure that if competent referees were appointed, for all games the School League could be run successfully.

His Excellency Sir Thomas Southern, Officer Administering the Government, was in the Chair, and was supported by Commander T. A. Hussey R.N., Mr. M. K. Lo and Mr. T. A. Mitchell (Vice-President), Major C. M. Mannors, (Chairman), and Mr. M. Bailton, (Hon. Secretary).

Sound Finances

The President, H. E. Sir Thomas Southern said in part: "The report is so comprehensive that it will not be necessary for me to go into much detail, but one matter stands out, and that is our satisfactory financial position. You will remember that when last I had the pleasure of presiding at our Annual Meeting the working account showed a loss of $2,999.21 and this necessitated reducing our reserve fund from $5,472.06 to $2,472.85. This year I am happy to note the working account shows a profit of $3,456.11, a very healthy sign."

TACCHI AND OVERY PLAYING TO-DAY

Macfarlane Expected To Succeed

The final encounters in the Third Round of the Colony Lawn Bowls Singles Championship will be decided this afternoon when the two will be played off.

C. F. Tacchi meets a Clubmate in H. Overy in what should be a very close game. Tacchi is perhaps a little too erratic for a successful singles player, although at times he is almost brilliant. Overy, on the other hand, is acknowledged as a consistent singles player, although as a skip he has been comparatively poor.

A. Macfarlane should manage to beat P. E. Knight when they clash on the Rowloon. B.G.C. green to-day.

A. M. Holland's quartette (P. Farrell, R. Duncan and J. C. Brown) are expected to beat J. L. Tetley, W. E. Hale, D. W. Waterhouse and M. J. Henderson (skip).

F. A. MEMBER RETIRES

Mr. Phil Park, a member of the Football Association, has decided to retire from the Middlesex and London Football Association after 24 years' service.

Gotfried von Cramm, German lawn tennis champion, who beat both Jack Crawford and Vivian McGrath to account for two victories in Germany's 4-1 entry into the final round of the European Zone. Germany now looms as a serious threat for the Cup for the first time in years.

Australia, favoured to reach the Challenge Round of the Davis Cup, ran headlong into Gotfried von Cramm who beat both Jack Crawford and Vivian McGrath to account for two victories in Germany's 4-1 entry into the final round of the European Zone. Germany now looms as a serious threat for the Cup for the first time in years.

POLICE BEAT CIVIL SERVICE IN "D" DIVISION

RAIN INTERFERES WITH PLAY

ONLY SIX SETS PLAYED: REMAINDER HALVED

A postponed "D" Division League lawn tennis match was played yesterday evening at Happy Valley, when rain interfered in the encounter between the Police Recreation Club, the ultimate winners, and the Civil Service Cricket Club.

As a result of the rain, play was only confined to six sets, in which the Police secured a clean sweep. It was decided, by mutual arrangement, to halve the remaining three sets.

Scores were:
A. E. S. Major and I. Smith (P.R.C.) beat A. L. Fisher and B. Agnew (C.C.C.) 6-2
best W. College and N. J. Bebbington beat C. J. Tacchi and C. Kimmman 6-2
P. B. Baker and I. Galvin (P.R.C.) beat College and Bebbington 6-2
C. Pile and G. Carruthers (P.R.C.) beat Fisher and Agnew 6-4 best College and Bebbington 6-3

LEAD HELD FROM START

CAVANAGH STRIKES HIS BEST FORM

JONES CAUGHT ON OFF DAY

GRIMMITT'S PLECKY BUT UNAVAILING EFFORTS

(By "SKIP")

There will be new champions in all three Colony Lawn Bowls Championships this year, for yesterday, on the Taikee green, A. W. Grimmitt and F. J. Jones, the Pairs Champions, were beaten by 15 shots to 14 by M. J. Medina and J. Cavanagh, the Cragen-gower pair, in the quarter final.

The champions made a supreme effort on the last head to save the game, but the two which they obtained proved insufficient to necessitate another head being played. The winners fully deserved their victory, for both of them played a splendid game. Cavanagh is especially worthy of praise for some of the shots he played were nothing short of magnificent.

Slow Scoring

Scoring was very slow throughout, the highest score being on the fifth head when the winners scored a four. For the losers Grimmitt played the better game.

£10,000 FOR HOCKEY INTERNATIONAL CAN NEVER PLAY AGAIN

LIVERPOOL AND ENGLAND LOSS

Dr. Cyril Hamilton Owen, of Liverpool, the famous hockey international, who played for Lancashire for 13 years, and has 18 international caps, was at Liverpool Assizes yesterday awarded £10,000 damages.

His claim was against Frank Sykes, of Warrington, for personal injuries. It was stated for him that when passing along a passage at a Warrington hotel towards the restaurant, he was crushed by a bus against the wall. The whole of his left upper chest was flattened, three ribs were broken, and his life was despaired of for some time. There was also a fracture of a heel bone, and he would never be able to take any part in sport again.

Dr. Owen, giving evidence, said he had played hockey 80 times for Lancashire.

"When do I play in the first round?" he asked.

NEW LEEDS F. C. MANAGER

Mr. W. ("Billy") Hampson, the old Newcastle United full-back, has been appointed as trainer and manager in succession to Mr. R.

"Then," remarked Borotra, "the practice that I had contemplated in singles will be short. I shall be finished by Monday night."

Lawn Bowls

Jones was seldom master of the situation, being unable to find his green or his length. Many of his woods fell away rapidly at the end, and he never seemed to make full allowance for this.

Medina lacked the consistency that was so obvious with his partner, although, generally speaking, he was well up to expectations.

Grimmitt Heavy

Grimmitt's only fault was that he was sometimes on the heavy side, and woods which had the green were often a yard or so through. Yesterday was not his lucky day, for many of his bowls missed taking the shot by a matter of inches.

Most of the heads were very closely fought with neither pair leaving anything to chance. On several occasions, Grimmer had to drive at a very small target and the fact that he was successful so often is a tribute to his skill.

Cavanagh Unlucky

Cavanagh also had quite a bit of driving to do, but he was not as lucky as his play deserved. On the 19th head his opponents were lying the shot and in driving he took out his own wood to give the opposition six. With his next wood, however, he managed to take the shot.

On the last head Jones got the better of the draw and was lying one with Grimmer to play. He managed to make the second game.

enough, so I thought I would try the singles again. "36 Is Too Old For Me" "I know I declined to play Davis Cup singles here in Paris. Anyone inclined to wonder why should realise the difference between the grass and the hard court surface. Grass is nearly as fast as indoor wood; the rallies are shortened and I can stand for me to have singles ambitions."

Despite all this entirely refusal to regard Borotra as a "has been," even in singles. One is glad to see that he is in Roderick Menzel's section of the draw. That means that only one of the two can play F. J. Perry (in the next section), so that the Champion will be relieved of the strain of beating both. Borotra beat Bruce Harris Henkel and then lost to Menzel.

shot, but Cavanagh sent up a wood to block the only hand that remained open, thus making it impossible for Grimmer to secure the necessary three to have the match.

ENGLAND 222 AHEAD WITH SEVEN WICKETS

Judicious Bowling Changes

SOUTH AFRICANS COLLAPSE

London, To-day.

Judicious bowling changes by Bob Wyatt resulted in the South Africans being dismissed for only 171 at Leeds yesterday in the third Test match. England will commence the last day's play to-day 222 runs ahead with seven wickets in hand.

SOUTH AFRICANS DECLINE OFFERS

Proposals also have been made to induce R. J. Williams, the reserve wicketkeeper, to sign on with a Rugby League club in the North.

Williams plays full back for Natal, and has been tried for the Springbok fifteen. Rugby is his favourite game. He brought a pair of Rugby football boots with him in case he might get a game during the tour.

As pointed out when recording the offers to Nourse, the "South Africans must, according to their contracts, return home at the end of this tour."

Miss Wilson Abandons Her Golf "Marathon" Attempt

June 20. Completed the round in two hours with a score of 71, and then went to the clubhouse to await the aeroplane which was to convey her to Morocco for her English round. After waiting for three hours Miss Wilson was informed by telephone from Liverpool that conditions were too bad to allow the pilot to make a safe landing at the golf course, and the attempt was abandoned. Miss Wilson made arrangements to return by train to London.

ALDERSHOT F.C. ECONOMISES

Profit Reported For First Time

For the first time since they entered the Football League Aldershot, whose balance-sheet was published recently, show a profit. Expenditure for the season amounted to £8,900, and there was an excess of income over expenditure of £351.

Last year there was a deficit of £1,395.

The report states that although the position is encouraging, there is still cause for considerable anxiety, as the improvement on the year's working is accounted for, not by any material increase in match receipts, but by a substantial saving in the total amount of wages and the fact that the club paid no transfer fees during the season.

K.C.C. BOWLS TEAMS FOR SATURDAY

Senior And Junior Rinks Selected

The following will represent the Kowloon Cricket Club against the Police Recreation Club in the Senior and Junior Lawn Bowls League on Saturday:

G. Lee, F. Goodwin, F. C. Craig and A. Hyde-Lay (skip).	P. S. W. Smith, W. C. Simpson, C. J. Tacchi and E. Kern (skip).
H. Overy, E. C. Fincher, R. P. Phillips and J. Fraser (skip).	H. Nissim, S. J. Slaughter, W. J. Geall and L. E. Lammer (skip).
H. Gittings, J. W. M. Brown, N. J. Bebbington and A. E. Silstone (skip).	G. Fletcher, J. S. Dimen, M. K. Bakken and T. Carr (skip).

APPLIED BEFORE

A CURIOUS thing about Treasurers and the "Spurs" is that he applied for the job seven years ago, when Peter McWilliam departed to "Middlebrough." And he was very close to getting it. He has done a fair amount of coaching in his time, and it used to be his habit when managing Crystal Palace to do football books and join the players at practice until he broke his leg.

Treasurers is still youthful in looks and figure, very little changed in fact from the young man who went out full of hope to play for West Ham in the first Cup Final at Wembley.

SPORTS CHATTER

By Geoffrey Simpson

London, June 20.

JACK Tresaders' capture of the Tottenham Hotspur manager-ship has taken all the knowing ones of football by surprise. Of all the names that were being bandied about his was least mentioned in connection with the post.

It is an imposing task that this 42-year-old Londoner has undertaken. He knows he is expected to restore the "Spurs" to the First Division—and that is not going to be easy.

But at least he has the advantage of tackling the job with a free hand. And not many football managers have the final word in the team picking.

The trouble with many clubs is that the directors interfere too much and the manager instead of giving orders has to take them. "Spurs have told Tresaders that he can do absolutely as he pleases—which means a great deal."

READY TO BUY

It seems to me that there has been a change of policy at Tottenham since the descent to Division II. For while they are going to continue their plan of recruiting players from their nursery whenever possible, they are also prepared to pay good money for ready-made men.

If only they had been willing to use the cheque-book a few months ago they might still be in the First League.

I notice that at Leeds United, too, it has been settled that the new manager, "Billy" Hampson, be solely responsible for choosing the team.

Hampson has had previous managerial experience with Carlisle United, for whom he converted a £1,200 deficit into a £400 profit. If only he can find a winning team the finances at Leeds will look after themselves.

Incidentally, West Ham was his birthplace.

WANTED BY EVERTON

SCOTTISH football is likely to lose another leading player, I hear, Everton having their eyes on Miller, the Partick Thistle inside right.

He has been touring with the Scottish team in Canada and the United States. The party got back to Glasgow yesterday, and Everton at once opened negotiations for his transfer.

Miller has spent seven years with Partick, and though often on the verge of winning an international cap it was not until last season that he really came to his best.

At one time, in fact, his club were on the point of giving him a free transfer, but last campaign Miller made the inside-right berth his own and proved himself one of the cleverest forwards in Scotland.

UNUSUAL GOLF COURSE

AN unusual course for golfing visitors to France is being opened on July 20 at Chamonix. It is at an altitude of 3,500ft., faces the immense panorama of Mont-Blanc, and is surrounded by pine and fir woods.

All the fine natural hazards of the mountainous country have been exploited in laying the course, and the greens, considering the height above sea level, are exceptional.

The club will be known as the Chamonix-Mont-Blanc, and I can imagine nothing more attractive than a round in an alpine setting.

OXFORD CRICKET BLUES

D. F. Walker, the Oxford University captain, has awarded £100 to T. G. L. Ballance (Uppingham and Brasenose) and R. H. Darwall-Smith (Charterhouse and Brasenose).

SOUTHAMPTON REPORT LOSS

Southampton F. C. lost £749 last season due to the directors' state in their annual report to a drop in gate receipts, which were £14,057 for first-team matches and £1,300 for reserve games.

ASCOT FOTE RECORD

The totalisator daily double at Ascot yesterday also constituted a record, the taking being £5,494 10s. The previous record was £5,400 10s. The previous record was £5,400 10s. The previous record was £5,400 10s.

CINCINNATI BASEBALL WIN OVER GIANTS

Ott And Lieber Hit Home Runs

BROWNS BEAT SENATORS

New York, To-day.

Yesterday's baseball programme was very much curtailed, the feature being the defeat of the Giants in the National League by the Reds.

Melvin Ott struck his 20th four-bagger in the home-run parade for the Giants, while Lieber added his 15th.

The Cardinals, last year's world champions, struck the top of their form against the Braves and won by a 13 to 6 margin. Durocher (2) and Joe Medwick scoring circuit-clouts.

In the only game scheduled for the American League, the Browns nosed out the Senators in a low scoring encounter.

Results, as cabled by Reuter, were:—

LOU BROUILLARD BEATS CORBETT III IN 10-ROUND BOUT

LOSERS' HOPES FOR TITLE DASHED

TERRIFIC FIGHTING

San Francisco, July 4.

Lou Brouillard, pounded out a decisive victory over Young Corbett III in 10 bruising rounds here to-night and dashed the latter's hopes of winning the world middleweight crown.

Brouillard, the former welterweight and middleweight champion, gave Corbett, former king of the welter division, a terrific body beating and the Fresno boy was in distress several times in the closing rounds.

Brouillard's Record

Brouillard won the middleweight title from Ben Jely on August 9, 1933, and lost it on the following October 30 to Vince Dundee. He won the welter crown in 1931 from Young Jack Thompson, and lost it the following year to Jackie Fields. Corbett beat Fields here on February 22, 1933, on points to take the welter crown, but lost it the following May 30 when Jimmy McLarnin knocked him out in the first round at Los Angeles. Since then Corbett has been campaigning in the middleweight division—Associated Press.

VINES AND TILDEN SAIL FOR ENGLAND

Pasadena, California, June 15.—Ellsworth Vines and W. T. Tilden will sail from New York to-morrow for Europe. They will tour England, France, Spain, and Switzerland. Later they may visit Japan for further exhibition matches.

FRENCHMEN CELEBRATE NATIONAL DAY

Demonstrations At Lyons

M. HERRIOT CONDEMNS FASCISM

— CHINA MAIL — SPECIAL —
Paris, To-day.

In keeping with their programme, the Radical Socialists of Lyons did not participate in the National Day celebrations on Sunday, but held a demonstration instead where M. Herriot, Mayor of Lyons, spoke.

Although M. Herriot condemned Fascism, whether coming from the Left or Right, he declared himself unconditionally for peace, and despite the fact that it was M. Herriot who in visiting Soviet Russia laid the foundation of the present Franco-Soviet alliance, his speech was incessantly interrupted by Communists, who howled, whistled and booed without intermission.

M. Herriot declared that whatever happened, he would stand by the Republican form of Government. "Not those who screech the loudest are the best friends of the Republic," said M. Herriot in condemning both civil war and war of the nations.

His supporters cheered themselves hoarse while the Communists showed some resentment by whistling, but the police kept the heads from coming to blows.

RECEPTION IN BERLIN

Berlin, To-day.

The French National Day was celebrated by the French colony here at a reception given by the Ambassador, M. Francois Poncet.

In welcoming the guests, the Ambassador said he resented the suggestion that the power and vigour of France were degenerating. The present unrest, said M. Poncet, indicated the throes of a re-birth similar to those which have occurred several times at critical periods in French history. The French people never tolerated for long any violation of their sense of equilibrium, or relaxed from their adherence to the principles of the rights of man. In the present confusion France would not let its ideals fall.

"Our hope that France and Germany will one day arrive at an understanding with each other remains unshaken," he said, "and in the last few weeks signs have not been wanting that a better era in the relations between the two neighbouring peoples is dawning."

FOR PEACE OF EUROPE

Rome, To-day.

Franco-Italian friendship rests not on mere words or formulas, but on a clear realisation of facts, said the French Ambassador in Rome, Comte de Chamberlain, in addressing the French colony during the celebration of the French National holiday on Sunday.

The solidarity of the two countries would prove just as fruitful as did the alliance concluded in a moment of danger years ago, the French envoy declared, in expressing the hope that in the interests of all nations wishing to recover their lost balance in the new order, the new intimacy of the two nations would extend to the net efforts aiming to preserve the peace of Europe—Trans-Oceanic service.

FORGERY OF BUS TICKETS

Another Conviction In Kowloon Case

The case against Fung Hap alias Fung Chun, the fourth defendant in the Kowloon Motor Bus Company ticket forgery case, was concluded at the Kowloon Magistracy yesterday afternoon, when he was sentenced to three months' hard labour by Mr. Wynne-Jones. He was convicted on a charge of uttering a forged ticket, two other charges of embezzling and defrauding were dismissed.

Mr. E. S. C. Brooks, of Messrs. Hastings and Company, appeared on behalf of the complainants, the Kowloon Motor Bus Company Ltd., and Mr. J. M. D'Almeida, Solicitor, appeared for the defence.

Addressing the graduating class of the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, President Roosevelt is shown telling the newly made officers and spectators that America's modest army is proof of her desire for peace. The President stated that the army on some occasions had been reduced "to a level unjustified by a due regard to our own safety." He then presented commissions to the graduates.

WOMAN SENT DOWN FROM OXFORD

Second Expulsion In Week

UNION SOCIETY PROTEST

Oxford.

A second undergraduate member of St. Hilda's College, Oxford, was sent down to-day—Lady Katherine Cairns, the 23-year-old daughter of Earl Cairns, of Farleigh House, Farleigh-Hungerford, Bath.

Lady Katherine, who has been studying modern languages is captain of Oxford University Women's Tennis Club, a woman fencing "Blue," and was the first woman undergraduate to be allowed to use a car while at college.

Previous Case. Learning that Miss Shawcross had been sent down because of paragraphs she was alleged to have contributed to the principal of St. Hilda's, Miss Julia Mann, Lady Katherine told her tutor that she had supplied information to that journal. An interview with Miss Mann followed, and Lady Katherine was told she must leave Oxford. She is at present taking "schools," and is to be allowed to continue these examinations.

"I shall stay with my sister, who lives just outside Oxford, until I have finished the examinations," she said to-day.

Protest Sequel. There was a sequel at the debate of the Oxford Union Society later, when Mr. G. Gladston, of Worcester College, proposed to add to the motion the phrase that the "recent punishment of certain members of a women's college has shown that the exercise of freedom of speech and writing, the common privilege and rights of citizens in later life, is in the older universities liable to suppression."

The addition was not approved, but Mr. Gladston raised the point in debate, denouncing "methods of the concentration camp."

OLD LOCOMOTIVE WITHDRAWN

'Honoured Retirement' For No. 14,010

LAST "SINGLE-WHEELER"

After a career of 49 years, during which she has covered 780,000 miles, the most historic of the L.M.S. Railway's 8,000 locomotives has just finished her working life and is now to be preserved in honoured retirement at the company's works at St. Bollux, Glasgow. This famous engine is No. 14,010, which has the distinction of being not only the last "single-wheeler" locomotive to survive in public passenger service in Great Britain, but also one of the few locomotives surviving of those which took part in the "race to Edinburgh" in 1838.

KILLED BY ENGINE

A LNER fireman, Mr. A. Lumley, aged 24, of Warren street, Islington, who was knocked down on his way to work recently by an engine outside the sheds at King's Cross, has died from his injuries.

Jubilee Naval Review To-day At Spithead

ONE-NIGHT REVIVAL OF PAST ERA

Re-Appearance Of Famous Dancer

CHARITY BALL SURPRISE IN PARIS

A white-haired woman, Jane Avril, only survivor of the famous "Moulin Rouge Quadrille" of 40 years ago, who has been in retirement for 28 years, revived a past era for one night when she appeared in the "Toulouse-Lautrec" Ball in Paris in May.

Jane Avril was, like La Goulue of the same period, admired and feted by kings, ambassadors, poets, and artists. She danced with La Goulue and other artists who were famous at the time at the Moulin Rouge.

Circus Rider. Lane Avril was a friend of Oscar Wilde. She became a circus rider, and finally appeared at the Moulin Rouge, where, instead of acquiring a familiar nickname as did other dancers of the period, she remained Jane Avril. She was at the height of her glory until about 1900, when she retired and married a painter. She is now a widow, and lives in Paris.

Last year she consented to dance for a village fete and then declared that her last appearance in public would be at a charity ball in Paris. She kept her word.

DOG DRUGGED BY THIEVES?

Alsation Locked In Back Room

London. Thieves who broke into a house in East-side-road, Golders Green, in the absence of the occupier, are believed to have drugged an Alsation dog and locked it in a back room.

The thieves apparently spent some hours in the house, entering every room, and they took jewellery, antique silver, and clothing valued at between £400 and £500.

The occupier of the house is M. A. E. Cox. When a member of the household returned home the dog was found in a back room.

The police believe that the thieves are members of a gang which have made several raids in the district recently.

SALADS GROWN BY ELECTRICITY

Planning New Age Of Marvels

STIMULATING GROWTH OF CROPS

One of the most recent uses to which electrical energy has been put is stimulating the growth of crops by running heating cables beneath the soil. It is only about four years since electric soil heating was introduced in Britain on a commercial basis.

The progress made was demonstrated at the Electrical Exhibition at Bournemouth in connection with the National Electrical Convention from June 3 to June 8.

Three Successes

Successful results have already been achieved with such things as lettuce, cabbages and tomatoes.

That is but one aspect of probably the most notable convention in British industrial history.

It is the biggest convention ever held by a single industry. There were 3,000 delegates from over a dozen interested bodies.

Mr. J. W. Simpson, its organiser, became London's busiest man.

Cross-Roads Reached. The whole electrical industry has reached the cross-roads on the way to national development," he said.

There is a stimulating cheerfulness about Mr. Simpson's prediction of the coming "All-Electric Age."

He talks of the pylons of the grid carrying power to the smallest hamlet so that the village washerwoman may have electricity as freely as water.

He sees the extension of the service of this mysterious slave of mankind, electricity (about which we really know so little) in matters of lighting, heating, cooking, telephones—and, of course, its new field, television.

MASSIVE FIREWORKS DISPLAY

Paris.—The greatest floodlighting achievement yet attempted in France was staged at Carcassonne last Sunday, the French national holiday. The massive walls of the city were illuminated, while a mammoth fireworks display was set off from the 52 ancient towers of the city.

Celebrations

There are, of course, endless varieties of celebrations, from the annual dinners of cricket and football clubs, to national fetes and religious ceremonies; and we all feel that life would be the poorer if we merely worked and ate and slept day to day without connecting ourselves up with like-minded people and the big events of the past that made our social and political life what they are to us. Is the custom of commemorating dates and seasons good or bad?

It might appear at a first glance that the line to be drawn depends on whether the thing to be celebrated is a uniting or a dividing memory; but human things are not so easily classified by a straight line. The members of a Cricket Club at their annual meeting are no doubt full of a feeling of good fellowship not disconnected with victories over rival clubs; but it is their own prowess that they think of, without troubling to vaunt their humiliation of the rivals, who are quite probably their very good friends. A political party on the other hand exists to subdue some other political party and cannot triumph without inflicting defeat upon the rivals; a commemoration is an incitement to future action for further struggle. The genuineness or otherwise of the company assembled will depend very much on the question whether the controversy is deep and merely involves a choice of means to attain general prosperity.

The taking of the Bastille, which was only honoured by festivity by our French co-residents on Saturday, is one of the unexceptionable occasions which can leave no sting behind; for whatever differences may run with whatever heat in the veins of French electors, it is quite certain that there is no party that would restore the lettre de cachet committing men to prison was not much more than a symbol. The defence was half-hearted, the inmates were few—four is the number often given—and it was not the profane that chiefly suffered from the Bastille. It is commonly supposed that it was really a section of the old family system of the aristocracy.

When the Boyne can be celebrated with no more bad blood than the Fifth of November, we shall know that the Irish feud is at an end.

cracy, and most often used for a temporary discipline of wayward sons and daughters who cherished amorous and particularly matrimonial plans that were unwelcome to the head of the family. Some mysterious inmates there were, like the "Man in the Iron Mask" who are explained as scions of great families who set up claims that ignored the bar sinister which the heralds would have allotted to them in a grant of arms.

The Battle of the Boyne is in a different class altogether: it is one of those commemorated days the remembrance of which is in itself a political programme and a defiance to those who advocate a different programme. The Fifth of November makes both an analogy and a contrast. Begun in a spirit of animosity and intolerance, it has almost lost its specific connection with the old strife of Catholic and Protestant. Guy Fawkes is not a figure that appeals to the imagination. Only here and there does one meet an old-fashioned person who condemns the fireworks as an insult; and even as a spectacle they are not as popular as once they were.

The Battle of the Boyne was fought in a quarrel which was, as it were, mother's milk to President de Valera; and he is still engaged in the same fight. He appears recently to have enquired whether the English Government would have any objection to his declaring Ireland to be a republic; and if so, what steps they would take to enforce their own view? In other words, he wanted to know whether a formal rebellion would be met with force or not. It seems rather odd that it remained to Mr. J. H. Thomas to enquire whether he had sought the views of the millions of Irishmen working in Great Britain, and whether, if they became aliens and were treated as such he would find work for them at home? It is certainly a question that needs to be answered, for in these days when unemployment is still the biggest drawback to prosperity, there cannot be a doubt that the exclusion of all aliens would be the most popular measure that any Government could propose—as witness the Edinburgh riots of last week.

When the Boyne can be celebrated with no more bad blood than the Fifth of November, we shall know that the Irish feud is at an end.

A man with a club-foot was found lying unconscious by the railway level crossing at Purfleet recently. His identity is not known. He was taken to Tilbury Hospital.

Here There and Everywhere

SELF-PORTRAITS

Few artists can resist the temptation to paint themselves. A hundred European portraits stretching over the last 50 years, and wholly unlike any portraits in the Academy, were on exhibition recently at the Leicester Galleries. Nearly 20 of them were self-portraits.

There was one of Sir William Rothenstein as a boy in knickerbockers in the nineties. There were self-portraits of Mr. Stanley Spencer, Renoir, Marie-Lamencia, Chirico, Derain with his family, and Gauguin in bronze relief. There were two of Cezanne and two of van Gogh.

PICASSO AS HARLEQUIN

Picasso painted himself dressed as a harlequin, seated at the Lapin Agile in Paris with its proprietor, Pere Fred, and a lady friend.

Fred acquired the picture after it was painted in 1908. In 1907 it was sold for a few hundred francs. By 1908 its value had risen prodigiously. Now it is the property of Monsieur de Mare, manager of the Swedish Ballet. His principal dancer, Boerlin, appeared in the exhibition, painted by Carl Hofer.

BRITAIN'S ROYAL GUEST

WARRIOR SON OF KING IBN SAUD

REPUTATION AS BRAVE MAN AND FIGHTER

(By Captain H. C. Armstrong)

London. of the Inner Desert, born in the great palace at Riad. Except for one visit to Cairo several years ago, he has never been out of Arabia, and he comes to England direct from Riad, the capital of Arabia.

The city lies in the very heart of that vast country. It is hidden and protected behind great deserts and is inhabited by the Wahabites, the fiercest and the most fanatical of the sects of Islam, who hate all foreigners and all foreign ways. Riad is a forbidden city, to which only a few European travellers have penetrated.

The Emir's Life
All his life the Emir has lived amongst the Wahabites. Like them he lives very frugally, neither drinking stimulants nor smoking tobacco. He is strictly religious, praying five times in each 24 hours at the appointed times. Keeping the Fast of Ramadan, for one month each year, he neither eats nor drinks from the hour when the stars begin to pale in the light of the false dawn until the evening call to prayer. He performs the Pilgrimage to Mecca and gives liberally to the poor.

Royal Claimants
A mighty, man, ruthless yet just, dominating the whole land, Ibn Saud holds down a fierce and untamed people by the prestige and personality of a great fighter. But the day, the very minute, the news goes out that King Ibn Saud is no more, Arabia will flare up in revolt.

Half a dozen members of the Royal family will try for the throne. Both the King and his father have married many wives and begotten many children. Ibn Saud has at least 25 sons alive, and a great host of brothers and cousins.

Arabia is a harsh land with little soil and less water, so that every yard must be cultivated with the sweat of the brow, and then it produces little. For the Arabs raiding is life, their one spur to energy.

It is in their nature and it sets their blood afire like fever—the secret massing of men and animals, a night march under the open sky and the rolling movement of the camels, a creeping between sand dunes, an eager, fierce, concentrated watching, and then shouts, hoarse cries, the galloping of horses, firing, clouds of dust, some loot, a man or two killed and a few injured.

Keeping Order
The King has for many years forbidden all raiding. He has wished to construct an organised State, and in this raid he has no place. He enforces his orders remorselessly. Once a clan of the Murra tribe disobeyed. At once Ibn Saud swooped down on them, wiped them out, and left as a warning that all could see a black smear of bodies and broken tents under the open sky.

It is Ibn Saud's personality which keeps law and order. The minute he is gone, with a whoop of joy the tribes will go raiding again as they did in the old days.

In Arabia there is no machinery of government and no civil service. The King lives and works in the open under the eyes of his people, who watch him narrowly, and they will accept no untried master.

Quarrelsome and proud, no two Arabs will agree who shall give orders until one has shown himself the better man. No tribe will submit to another unless forced. The son of a leader will get his chance to claim his father's place, but he must prove his worth or go.

What manner of man is Emir Saud? Can he take his father's place? He is now 33, an Arab.

Infantry he was attached to the R.N. air units in East Africa and Iraq, becoming a pilot in 1916 and squadron leader in 1928.

Banished for 10 years in 1918, September, Kwok Cheng (the unemployed) was this morning sentenced to six months' hard labour for being found in the Colony after having been banished for five years as recently as July 2.

IMPORTANCE OF ADVERTISING IN DEPRESSION

Appeal For Better Understanding

A. P. B. EXPANSION

An appeal for a better realisation of the importance of advertising was made by Mr. C. J. Church, Managing Director of the Advertising and Publicity Bureau, Limited, at the official opening of the A.P.B.'s Office and Studio in Queen's Building yesterday.

Among the more distinguished guests present were the Hon. Mr. J. J. Paterson, the Hon. Dr. R. H. Kottewall, Major V. E. Dulos, and Messrs. P. S. Cassidy, R. D. Walker, W. J. Carrie, S. H. Dodwell, Ma Man Fai, A. Raymond, E. M. Hamilton, C. Champlain, J. F. Macgregor, Addis Martin, R. Ohl, A. L. Downie, F. G. Maumder, E. W. G. Malcolm, and L. E. Gourley, the American Vice-Consul.

Mr. Church's Speech

In welcoming the guests, Mr. C. J. Church said:

"We, the Directors, Executives, and Staff of the A.P.B., are greatly honoured by your presence here to-day. The occasion, as you know, is the opening of our new offices and it also marks the beginning of our thirteenth year, as it is just 13 years ago that we started in one room—No. 13—in Alexandra Buildings.

"We also felt that it would be an excellent opportunity to invite you gentlemen who are primarily concerned with the business and trade of Hong Kong—either directly or indirectly—to see something at first hand of an organisation specialising in creating a demand for goods, the import and distribution of which is the backbone of Hong Kong commerce.

"We know that we have some times been looked upon as mere disturbers of the peace, or as people who take a delight in butting in on other people's business. We believe that idea is largely due to a misconception of the part that advertising has to play in modern business, and also of what this organisation really stands for.

Resisting The Depression
"As regards advertising, may I read what Sir John Pybus said at his Presidential address at the opening of the Annual Advertising Convention in England last month:

"Those of you who follow the company meeting reports in the newspapers must have been impressed, as I have been, by the power of resistance which in general those companies who advertise have shown to the depression, and the rapidity with which their sales have turned upward again.

"A comparison in these respects of the records of the advertising with those of the non-advertising companies would, I am sure, be very instructive.

"Much as advertising has achieved, there is still immense scope for the individual advertiser. We are moving into a period of greater prosperity, when the public will have more money to spend and more leisure, and better opportunities to develop a high standard of living."

"Now as regards this organisation, you have perhaps been around the various departments, and I hope this has left an impression of what advertising really entails.

Hong Kong Backward
"Speaking quite frankly, Hong Kong is very backward in its realisation of the part advertising plays in modern life. It is regarded far too much as a mere or less necessary evil which has to be carried out but is left entirely to any member of the staff who has some spare time on his hands, or who can persuade his chief he has a flair for drawing—and therefore knows all about advertising.

"Gentlemen, this is all wrong, and unless we get a clear conception of what advertising does, and how it can be made to work for you and increase your profits when it is properly applied to the problems of distributing and selling what you import from abroad, then the only people who are benefiting from your imports will be the go-down companies, who will store your goods, and the auctioneers who will auction them for you when you can't sell them otherwise."

The A. P. B. aims at... Without carefully planned advertising and marketing your business...

A concession to construct a railway through Ethiopia (Abyssinia) along the route shown in the map above, to link the Italian colonies of Eritrea and Somaliland, may enable Ethiopia to settle its dispute with Italy without war. Britain, having won a concession from Ethiopia in the Lake Tana region, to protect the all-important sources of the Blue Nile, is supporting this solution.

ALLEGED FRAUD ON STAR FERRY

Two Young Students Charged

SERIOUS VIEW URGED

Two 17-year-old students, Kwong Man-hung and Lai Yui-kwai, were charged before Mr. E. I. Wynne Jones at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning with crossing the harbour by the Star Ferry without paying their fare last night.

It was alleged that the defendants were given permission to wait on the wharf for a friend, and a little later one of them was seen to board a ferry, and was followed. The second defendant boarded the next ferry, and was also followed across to Hong Kong.

On arriving at the Hong Kong Wharf they were questioned and brought back to Kowloon, where they were arrested and taken to the Water Police Station.

Defendants stated that they had been to a cinema in Kowloon and afterwards they found that they had no money left to get home; they both live in Hong Kong.

A. E. Ainsworth, a Ticket Inspector of the Star Ferry Company, asked Mr. E. I. Wynne Jones to take a serious view of the case as the public were allowed to sit on the wharf to wait, and if that rule was being abused the Company would have to take steps to stop it.

At this point the defendants were remanded for 24 hours in police custody in order that the authorities can get in touch with their parents.

ports cannot reach the consumers in any quantity, for the simple reason that consumers, a great portion of whom are in the interior, will never hear of them and therefore will not demand them.

"To find out if and where a demand for your imports can be created, to stimulate that demand and to aid in distributing your goods where the demand has been created, is the sole purpose of the A.P.B.

"Not only is expert knowledge needed in creating a demand for goods: it is equally indispensable in selling an idea.

"For instance, Hong Kong is about to try and sell herself and her attractions abroad. To the uninitiated it may appear a simple matter to keep on reiterating: 'Come to Hong Kong, the Pearl of the Orient,' etc. But advertising has to do much more than that: it has to arouse attention and interest, to create a desire to come here, to ensure remembrance of the sales story of Hong Kong, and finally to compel the reader of the advertisements to take action.

Now, perhaps, it is clear why we say that it needs a staff of experts to carry out advertising—if and that is a big if—the money spent on it is to be justified by results—which is the only criterion of success."

Miss M. Tillery, of No. 2 Tenthallen Terrace, Kowloon Dock, reports that she was bitten on the cheek by her black spaniel yesterday. The dog was sent to Maitland for observation, and Miss Tillery received treatment at the Kowloon Hospital.

CUSTOM OF EATING ONE TWIN

Cannibals Of New Guinea Island

MARIST MISSIONARY'S EXPERIENCES

The Rev. Father L. Chazze, of the Marist Mission Society, who arrived in Sydney recently on furlough, gave a vivid account of his 24 years' missionary experiences in the wilds of the island of Bougainville, New Guinea. Together with Fathers Seiller and Griswold, he has dared death on many occasions and by courage, perseverance, and belief in his work over the years, 25,000 natives have been converted to Christianity. At present about 15,000 cannibals remain on the island.

When he last set off in search of a tribe which had never seen a white man, Father Chazze took with him as his guides a native who admitted shyly that he had often eaten human flesh.

Completely Unarmed
"I was armed with nothing but a walking-stick," Father Chazze said. "As we approached the village natives, armed with spears, were lurking in the bushes and trees. They could not be seen, but by instinct we knew that they were there. I expected them to rush out at us at any moment, but they allowed us to walk into their village."

"Finally, when the natives saw that I meant no harm they surrounded me, and curiously, but cautiously, examined my body. They had never seen a white man, and they were amazed at my skin. They lifted up my shirt and poked and pinched the skin on my chest, back and arms, unable to believe their eyes. The only time in my life when I have shivered in my boots was when the big chief came along and felt the fat on my arms and legs, and remarked in his native tongue, 'Big fat feller.' I honestly thought my last hour had come and I had visions of being put into the proverbial pot."

"Box Of Tricks"
Father Chazze said that after producing his usual "box of tricks"—matches, pocket-knives, and mirrors—he felt more at ease, as the attention of the cannibals was directed from him to other curiosities. The natives regarded him as a friend after he distributed mirrors and matches, which they childishly played with for hours. Once or twice a man fingered Father Chazze's spectacles to see if they were part of his face, but the priest managed to hold on to them.

Father Chazze said he remained with the tribe for three days. On the third day members of another tribe visited the village. They constantly smiled and laughed at him and this was regarded by his boy and the chief of his newly-made friends as an evil omen. It was suspected that the other tribe was going to kill him. At this point 150 natives, armed with spears, stood guard over him, and the next day he set off under escort on the way back to his coast.

Stopping A War
Sometimes, said Father Chazze, it was necessary to carry a box for self-defence. On the mountains the "savages" were terrified at the report of a gun.

Today's Short Story

Lapse Of Memory

By John Coghlan

THE stranger with the large stomach and diamonds, who was more than a little drunk wanted to talk. I let him. Not that I could have stopped him. We were crossing the Channel. I was not very strong.

"A memory," he said solemnly, "is a great thing. You got it, or you ain't. Like warts."

"I made a vague sound" which might have meant anything. "There was three fellows," he said. "Brown, Kinross, and O'Dowd."

I moaned softly. It was going to be a story about a Scotsman, an Englishman, and an Irishman; but I was too weak to leave the deck-chair beside him. "They was lookin' for gold," he said. "Africa. Hadn't found enough to fill an oyster's tooth. They was campin' near a lake—Lake Something-or-other. They was eatin' bully-beef. 'Where's the salt?' says Brown. 'Being English, he was fussy. 'Forgot to bring any,' says O'Dowd, who'd just been south for more grub. 'It's a wonder you remembered to come back at all,' says Kinross. 'I got news,' says O'Dowd. Big news."

SANITARY BOARD MEETING

New Eating House Licences

TO-DAY'S AGENDA

The following is the agenda for the meeting of the Sanitary Board to be held this afternoon at 4.15 p.m.

Application for an offensive trade licence (cleansing sharks' fins) at No. 19, Des Vaux Road West, third floor.

Application for an eating house licence at No. 352, Shanghai Street, ground floor.

Application for an eating house licence at No. 64 Des Vaux Road Central, ground floor.

Among the regular returns to be considered is the report from the Honourable Director of Medical and Sanitary Services for the month of June.

Many stood still and trembled violently. The uncivilised tribes were always fighting. Usually it was over women, or the fact that one chief told stories about another chief. Once he prevented a clash between two tribes by rushing in between them when they were yelling and screaming at one another. He was warned not to interfere again, as they did not want to harm him.

"The natives," said Father Chazze, "do not kill a man to eat, but having killed a man they do not hesitate to eat him out of vengeance."

Government Praised

Father Chazze highly praised the work of the Government administration, which he said, was doing splendid work in opening up the islands and controlling the natives. The mission was given every assistance. Roads were being built. A hospital had been established for civilised natives. The doctors went through the villages periodically to give injections and treatment, and to take a census of the natives.

At first the natives were afraid of the medicine, but now they went to the hospital and asked for it. Scores of native babies who otherwise would have been killed or allowed to die had been saved by the mission.

It was the custom of a mother when twins were born to kill one of the babies because two children were too much for her to care for. Natives had been encouraged to bring unwanted babies to the mission.

"The only news I want to hear is that you know where gold is. Lots of gold," says Kinross. You know how the Scotch are. "That's it," says O'Dowd. That stopped their eatin'."

TO-MORROW'S STORY

To-morrow's story will be "A Shadow Among The Shadows," by Ex-Detective Inspector Harold Brust.

"It's like this," says O'Dowd. "Remember old Mynheer Krug? Well, he died in Jo'burg while I was there. I saw him go out. Years ago I snatched Krug out of a mess of Zulus and saved his skin. He never forgot it. Well, when old Mynheer was dyin' he tells me that he's just back from a prospectin' trip, and shows me some samples of ore—and they're just filthy with the real stuff! I being his pal, he tells me where he found it. Then he gives a grunt and ain't no more."

"Well," cry Brown and Kinross, like one man, "where did he find it?"

"In a little valley half a mile due east of a certain village," says O'Dowd.

"What village?" bark Brown and Kinross.

"O'Dowd scratches his head. "Well, do you know," he says, "it's a queer, strange thing surely, but I disremember."

"What?" they howl at him.

"Old Krug dyin' like that drove it clean out of my head," says O'Dowd.

"Think, man, think!" they scream at him.

"I got a sore brain from thinkin'," says O'Dowd. "Lemme see, now. Somewhere in Africa—"

"Oh, rilly," snaps Brown, in his sarcastic English way. "Jolly little spot, Africa! All we need do is rummage round a bit, what? Start at the Cape, y'know, and work north to Cairo."

"What sort of name was it?" hisses Kinross.

"Oh, just a name," says O'Dowd. "Mebbe it began with a P, or perhaps a B. I'm foggy about that."

"You was born in a fog," says Brown.

"Was it Zundo, Lepata, Haverhill, Usutu, Dullstroom, Smiths-dorp, Witpoort, Blinkwater—?" asks Kinross.

"I dinno," says O'Dowd. "The name is somewhere in my head."

"Let's chop it open and look," says Brown.

"Is it a long name?" asks Kinross.

"Is it a short name?" asks Brown.

"Not very," says O'Dowd. "But I ain't dead sure. It's on the tip of my tongue."

"Would you recognise it if you heard it?" asks Kinross.

"I might," says O'Dowd.

"So they get out a lot of big maps and go to work. All night they shoot names at O'Dowd. They don't get nothin' out of O'Dowd except that he thinks it sounds in a general sort of way like Bannockburn, or maybe he means Rallyhannan."

"They pour all their rum into him, hopin' they may loosen something in his skull, but it only makes him sleepy. They're the two maddest men, white, black, or yellow; anybody ever heard of; and O'Dowd ain't so happy himself till he passes out."

"When he wakes up at noon he can't move, because his hands and feet are tied. Brown and Kinross are sittin' beside him, sayin' nothin' but lookin' nasty."

"Hey," yells O'Dowd. "What's the game? What are you goin' to do?"

"There's only one thing to do with a dolt like you," says Kinross, lookin' very Scotch and sour. "Throw you in the lake. Ain't that right?"

"Gimme," says Brown, in his cold English way.

"Oh, leave up O'Dowd, who ain't no swimmer, and carry him down to the lake-side kitchen and bannockin' and chuck him into bannockin' water."

Early soon they take him out and poke him in the water out of him, and he opens his eyes, and they are both there.

WHAT would modern navigation do without the channel buoys—those floating markers that keep ships off the shoals? In a very real sense, the advertisements in this paper are channel buoys, placed for your protection—for the safeguarding of the family expenditures.
These advertisements are the signed statements of reputable firms who seek your patronage on the single basis of giving value for every dollar spent. They are honest statements, the only kind an advertiser can use and remain an advertiser.
People who get the most for their dollar in the market-places are those who keep an eye on the channel buoys. Day by day, they follow the advertisements to learn what and where to buy to the best advantage. Make this a habit. Study the advertisements, in the interest of shrewder buying.
The advertisers in this paper have charted the channels of buying for you. Keep to the course.

AQUARIUM IN LONDON ZOO

IMPORTANT CENTRE OF RESEARCH

FISH WHICH CHANGE COLOUR UNDER SUNLIGHT

(By Craven Hill, F.Z.S.)

London. One of the most interesting parts of the Zoo aquarium is the long service corridor which runs behind the tanks. The primary purpose of this wide, elevated passage is to enable keepers to clean out the show tanks and feed the exhibits; but it has another function, and by no means an unimportant one, for it is also used as a laboratory.

Along the outer walls are small reserve tanks in which, from time to time, research work is carried out and scientific experiments made, not only upon fish, but on sponges, marine plants, the changes in the constitution of the water used in the aquarium, and so on.

The experiments, initiated by the aquarium director, Mr. E. G. Boulenger, are usually supervised by him and by Overseer Vinnall, of the aquarium staff, and most of them are made with the object of improving the health of captive fish.

Fungus Malady. To keep aquatic exhibits in good condition is a much more difficult task than to maintain the health of captive animals or birds.

In the first place, fish, generally speaking, are far more delicate than mammals, and if the conditions of their existence—the density of their water and its aeration—are not absolutely right their chances of survival are poor. And they are far more liable to fall victims to disease than are mammals or birds.

It is in the prevention and cure of these diseases that many experiments have been made, and some of them have been a conspicuous success.

Take, for instance, that malady known as fungus, which so readily afflicts captive freshwater fish, and which shows itself as a greyish film upon the scales, and finally spreads to the gills, causing death. Until quite recently this bacterial disease had been one of the most serious which the Zoo has had to combat, and it was with the definite aim of finding a cure for it that a succession of experiments was undertaken in the aquarium laboratory.

Negative results, however, were obtained until one day it was found that, by simply transferring a sufferer to sea-water for a period not longer than 60 seconds the disease was definitely checked. In this experiment salt appeared to play an important part, and further and even more successful tests were therefore made with this substance.

It was found, for instance, that if the disease had not obtained too strong a hold on a victim it could be cleared up by adding one table-spoonful of salt to one gallon of freshwater, and allowing the afflicted fish to swim therein.

Permanently Cured. But perhaps the most striking results were obtained by the gradual warming of the water containing the fish to about 75 degrees, whereupon the fungus literally fell off the scales of the victim, who was then permanently cured.

Another complaint—much more rapid in its effects—which afflicts freshwater specimens is that known popularly as "white spot disease." In this malady a fish comes out in spots almost overnight. The spots apparently cause the most intense irritation, for upon manifesting them the sufferer scratches himself so vigorously against rocks or wood that in a few hours he succumbs to sheer exhaustion.

Like fungus, this disease at first baffled the aquarium experts, but made the most determined efforts to effect a cure.

In the end persistence won the day. "White spot disease," it was discovered, can be cured by applying two per cent. solution of copper sulphate (five drops to one gallon of water). At the end of the first treatment the sufferer is given a second treatment, and the disease is completely cured.

very few exhibits have been lost from white spot disease.

The Sea-Horses. Other experiments in the laboratory are connected with breeding, and the rearing of delicate young fish which, if left in their exhibition tanks would, for one reason or another, die an early death. Young sea-horses are a case in point.

The Zoo's sea-horses breed occasionally, but the offspring never, by any chance, survive, so that the stock of these curiously shaped marine creatures has to be regularly replenished by obtaining fresh adult specimens from their native waters off Archachon, on the Bay of Biscay.

On a recent occasion, therefore, when a family of baby sea-horses made their appearance, they were at once taken by net from the exhibition tank and transferred to a small reserve one in the laboratory.

Here, the little, wriggling, brown forms—none of them over half an inch long—were offered various new kinds of food, ground down to a fine powder so that it would not be too big for their tiny mouths; but although this family survived longer than any previous ones had done, they all succumbed in the end. However, the Zoo does not abandon hope of one day finding out the secret why baby sea-horses cannot be successfully reared.

Experiments of another kind are those which are made to determine the effect of artificial sunlight on fish.

The value of the ultra-violet ray in other departments of Zoo life is well-known, and its therapeutic powers, both as a tonic and stimulant, have been amply demonstrated. Of its effects upon fish, however, little was known until selected specimens were irradiated in the aquarium.

Surprise. The first result of these tests was rather surprising, for its immediate effect upon certain kinds of fish was to alter their colour!

This, naturally, set the officials testing along new lines of inquiry. Was it possible, by merely irradiating a fish, permanently to change its hue?

Tests were made, with varying results, but in one case a particularly startling one was obtained. A bronze-coloured goldfish, constantly irradiated, acquired, within a few months, a bright golden tint—a colour its subsequently retained for the rest of its life!

Although this discovery was of little practical value, it was of special interest to scientists, proving as it did that sea-water can change a fish's hue permanently without in any way affecting its general health.

Another interesting test recently concluded was that carried out to determine the action of sea water on various metals, such as copper, brass and zinc.

Yet another one to which the tanks in the laboratory are put is to discover, by experiment, which plants do best in the aquarium water, and also what effect, if any, they have upon the fish. The ideal to be reached in any aquarium is so to arrange matters that the animal and vegetable life have no ill effects upon each other—and this can obviously be determined only after a very great deal of experiment. Knowledge gained here is of practical value, for results can be incorporated in the exhibit tanks, where the fish are nearest to always shown swimming among weeds of various kinds.

The Fishes. One thing one looks for among materials in an aquarium laboratory, and yet this laboratory has been a success in this respect. For example, you may see a fish which has been taken from its exhibition tank and placed in a small reserve tank, and which, after a few days, is found to be suffering from a disease which has been completely cured by the time it is returned to its exhibition tank.

SCHOOL SOCCER

The Sunday Herald International Cup competition was a great success, China winning the final against Portugal 2-0. The net gate receipts amounted to $5,415.99, which has been distributed among deserving charitable institutions in the Colony.

Appeal For Clean Play

Whilst on the subject of competitions, I must say a few words regarding the large number of cases coming before the Emergency Committee. When I had the honour of addressing you last year, I made a very earnest appeal to players and spectators alike for clean play, and I warned players that the Association would not hesitate to use all the powers it possessed to maintain the true spirit of the game in this Colony. I regret to see from the report that, in spite of that appeal, there have been all too many cases of misconduct with which the Emergency Committee has had to deal. It is a very serious reflection on our sporting instincts that two Clubs should have had to be removed from the League competition, and I hope the offending Clubs will see to it that they do not again bring such disgrace upon themselves and upon Hong Kong Football generally.

I make a special appeal in connection with the Governor's Cup matches one of which was marked by most creditable conduct last season. These matches should be specially sacrosanct for not only was the Cup presented by His Majesty's Representative, but the matches were instituted for the special purpose of promoting friendly relations between Chinese and non-Chinese football players. That they should be the occasion for displays of unseemly conduct brings the whole of Hong Kong Football into disrepute.

Officials Tributed

Major Manners has carried out his onerous duties as Chairman of the Council in his usual efficient way and our thanks are due to him for conducting the business of the Association so successfully.

Mr. Manning L. Bailton who so kindly volunteered to take over the duties of Hon. Secretary, when we were left without one, has proved to be a very hard-working and conscientious official; we appreciate the services he has rendered and trust he will remain with us for a long time.

Objection Raised

Mr. B. M. Omar raised an objection to the wording of the phrase "for fighting" in connection with regard to the suspension of the Young Indians Football Club, as contained in the Report. The speaker understood that the Club were suspended for not fulfilling their fixtures. After consultation with the Hon. Secretary, the Chairman admitted that this was so and the words "for fighting" were deleted. Mr. M. K. Lo seconded the report which was carried unanimously.

New Rules Adopted

The new rules of the Association as presented by the Council, were adopted unanimously. The following officials were elected for the ensuing year. His Excellency the Officer Administering the Government, Sir Thomas Southern, was re-elected President (with acclamation). Commander T. A. Hussey, R.N., Mr. M. K. Lo and Mr. L. A. Mitchell, were re-elected Vice-Presidents, while Major C. M. Manners, O.B.E. and Mr. C. Gillingham were elected chairmen and representatives for Junior Clubs respectively.

FUEL MOTOR TRUCK EXPLODES

Many Buildings Set On Fire At Rodez

"CHINA MAIL" SPECIAL
Paris, To-day.
An accident of an unusual nature occurred on Sunday evening at Rodez, where four buildings were completely burnt down when a motor truck carrying a load of 10,000 litres of motor fuel struck a house and exploded, flooding everything within 50 metres radius with burning gasoline, which set fire to various houses.
The driver of the truck, who was buried under the debris of one of the destroyed buildings, was killed, and it is feared that a child of six who is missing was likewise a victim of the accident. Trans-Ocean Service.

PLAN NO CURE FOR UNEMPLOYMENT

The main features were a prosperity loan of $250,000,000 for productive public works during the next two years; the formation of a National Development Board to survey industrial, agricultural and financial resources, and to plan economic progress; financial assistance for the development of overseas markets; a Cabinet to consist of a Prime Minister and four or five Ministers without departmental duties; the Bank of England to be placed under the control of a board representing the financial, industrial and commercial interests of the nation.

Mr. Lloyd George advocated the abolition of quotas after expiration of the Ottawa agreements, but urged tariff protection for British agriculture with effective measures to prevent dumping, whether from abroad or from the Dominions.

He emphasised the immense possibilities inside the Empire and in partly developed countries like India and the colonies, also the unlimited room for expansion of international trade in Russia and China.

POSSIBILITIES IN CHINA
The magnitude of undeveloped possibilities in China and the importance of the diplomatic and financial policy that we pursue in the Far East were stressed.

The memorandum said that owing to lack of equipment there was a deplorable deficiency in transport facilities for Chinese workers and the output of wealth per capita was under one-thirtieth of that of Canadian or American

AIR TRAVELLING FOR M.P.'S

To Pay Excess Over First Class Rail

London, To-day.
A scheme for the inclusion of air travel within the present arrangements, by which Members of Parliament visiting their constituencies on public business receive free travelling facilities, was announced in the House of Commons yesterday.
Where suitable arrangements can be made members desiring to go by air will be supplied with the necessary warrants to enable them, on payment of the excess over first-class railway fare, to use approved airlines. — British Wireless Service.

POLITICAL SCRAMBLE FOR POWER

Before the Fifth National Congress of the Kuomintang is to be convened in Nanking on November 12, the sixth plenary session of the Kuomintang Central Executive Committee will be held in September to discuss preliminary work. To manoeuvre for the best position, the Kuomintang S.W. Executive Committee seeks the return of Mr. Hsiao Fu-chun. At the same time, a member of the Committee will shortly proceed to Shanghai to sound the views of Shanghai leaders with a view to enlisting their support for the South-west.

The political scramble for points of vantage will be in full swing by the end of this month, if not sooner.

workers.
There were many grounds apart from commercial advantage, and it would be a disaster if the Western Powers failed to co-operate in the process of helping China to establish herself and left her alone to the tender mercies of Japanese exploitation.

For future world harmony it was vital that Great Britain, the United States and Russia should agree to a policy as strong as that of Japan, and to join that country in aiding China to get on her feet.
Mr. Lloyd George urged that we should advance credits to China on a generous scale and devote more serious attention to Far Eastern diplomatic problems and transfer our representative to Nanking, where he would have the best influence on the course of events.

FLOOD RELIEF IN KWANGTUNG

How Best To Expend $100,000 Voted

Canton, To-day.
Following the endorsement by the Provincial Government of the proposal submitted by Chairman Lin Yuen-kai for appropriation of $100,000 for undertaking of relief work in the flooded districts along the North and the West Rivers, representatives of the Civil and Reconstruction Departments held a meeting on Saturday last for discussion of plans of relief.
It is learned that the $100,000 is to be used for construction of roads, deepening of rivers, reparation of embankments, construction of mounds, and afforestation. While the Provincial Conservancy Board is instructed to carry out the work on deepening of rivers, reparation of embankments, and building of mounds, the Reconstruction Department is hastily preparing plans for building of roads and afforestation.

It is expected that many poor people in the inundated areas will be given employment when the projects are put in hand. — Central Press.

FAMOUS SCIENTIST DEAD

Invented Life-Saving Antiseptic

Professor Julius Berend Cohen, who invented an antiseptic which has saved many lives, has died at Comiston, Lancashire, aged 76. He was professor of Organic Chemistry at Leeds University from 1904 to 1924. Professor Cohen studied the effect of smoke on towns and served as a member of the Local Government Board Committee on smoke abatement. He was also an associate member of the Chemical Warfare Committee.
